

86 2+2 headlight exchange

He everyone ,

Thanks for the add to the registry , I just bought my self a 2+2 Aerocoupe , loving it so far , but one of the headlights are out and it looks almost impossible to get to retaining screws for the ring that holds the lamp itself !! Any suggestions as to removal of the old headlamp ??

I've had two of these cars over the years. It's a chronic issue that the front bumper cover warps and sags down over the headlamp trim rings. The only real way to get at them is to gently pry the cover in order to expose the screw heads. You can slide a stiff flat panel above the headlamps to get to the top screws. The bottom are more difficult for that method. I use a large flat blade screwdriver to expose those.

Are you restoring this 2+2 or modifying?

Had the same concern before. Luckily I have a friend who is very mechanically inclined.
