

Kirkwood Cruise - DE

Posted by OldInjun - 2010/08/10 20:51

Okay, I know not many of you are from this area, but if you are...

This Saturday, 4-??? is the second annual Kirkwood Hwy Cruise, from Wilmington to Newark in northern Delaware. We're trying to establish a version of the Woodward Cruise for us East Coast types.

Behave yourselves - cops will be watching.

If you show, I'll be hanging out at the vacant gas station at Route 7 intersection.

=====

Re:Kirkwood Cruise - DE

Posted by 70GTO - 2010/08/19 19:05

That was a great time, it would be cool to do it more than once a year. oldinjun u have a great car.

=====

Re:Kirkwood Cruise - DE

Posted by OldInjun - 2010/08/19 19:23

The original idea I had for the Kirkwood Cruise was that we needed an East Coast version of the Woodward Dream Cruise. Not many of us are able/willing to drive or transport our toys out to Detroit (although it's on my "bucket list"). Unfortunately, I'm more of an idea person than an action person, so it was only an idea until John Presley picked it up and ran with it. So it started last year, and grew bigger this year. I'm looking forward to it next year - would like to see 1,000 cars come out! Eventually I expect to see people from up & down the eastern seaboard joining in.

=====