Picked it up yesterday and went back for a 65 Catalina convertible today! :D

Neat. looks as if you're saving one for posterity.
Details, please - condition, your plans, etc.

It's pretty rough. Everything appears to be there other than the engine. As of right now I just enjoy looking at it, as silly as that may sound. I've had people ask me about selling parts off it but not sure I'm going to do that yet. There is a 65 Catalina convertible I picked up to that I would part out.

Nice car. It can be a good project.
