

The site looks great!

Posted by 2+2=428 - 2010/05/31 22:33

To everyone that put this together for the rest of us to enjoy THANK YOU!!!

:)

Dave

=====

Re:The site looks great!

Posted by OldInjun - 2010/06/01 09:09

Dave gets the award for 1st-ever forum poster by a member.

The feedback is appreciated. All of the credit for website design and development goes to Don @ Garnet Design group. Don is a fellow car guy, we just have to persuade him to come over to "The Darkside". He developed a bad Chevy habit back in the day.

If anyone needs a business/personal/hobby website, I highly recommend Garnet Design Group.

=====

Re:The site looks great!

Posted by 2+2=428 - 2010/06/01 10:23

Give yourself some credit Jack. You did something here that I've only dreamed about doing. Your passion and drive to do this for the rest of us is greatly appreciated! In addition, I have more info I need to get to you regarding some other 67' 2+2's that I have saved.

=====

Re:The site looks great!

Posted by OldInjun - 2010/06/01 12:05

Any submissions can be emailed to info@pontiac2plus2registry.com. I would like to gather scans of dealer brochures (I've got 1965 covered), vintage 2+2 ads, manuals, spec data, photo's, etc. Anything that one would find useful if they were researching 2+2's.

=====

Re:The site looks great!

Posted by 2+2+3x2 - 2010/06/01 18:09

Jack I know you've worked hard on this and it shows, thank you for doing it, there are a lot of people that will enjoy it for a very long time. Thanks again!

=====

Re:The site looks great!

Posted by 2+2=428 - 2010/06/02 19:46

OldInjun wrote:

Any submissions can be emailed to info@pontiac2plus2registry.com. I would like to gather scans of dealer brochures (I've got 1965 covered), vintage 2+2 ads, manuals, spec data, photo's, etc. Anything that one would find useful if they were researching 2+2's.

I will work on getting you some more information tonite after I get the kids in bed.

=====