

2+2 In China

Posted by OldInjun - 2010/11/24 13:35

I received the following pictures from George Cox, Colorado Springs. George is an airline pilot, and was visiting the Shanghai Auto Museum during a trans-Pacific layover.

<http://i286.photobucket.com/albums/ll105/OldInjun/Shanghai%20Auto%20Museum%20plus2/22ShanghaiMuseum.jpg>

<http://i286.photobucket.com/albums/ll105/OldInjun/Shanghai%20Auto%20Museum%20plus2/22ShanghaiMuseum2.jpg>

<http://i286.photobucket.com/albums/ll105/OldInjun/Shanghai%20Auto%20Museum%20plus2/22ShanghaiMuseum3.jpg>

First I've heard of this car. It appears this is China's first car museum, it opened in 2007, and the cars are apparently on-loan from the Blackhawk Collection.

Anyone know anything more about this car?

Thanks, George, for the pix!

=====

Re:2+2 In China

Posted by BigBrother - 2010/11/24 17:42

Looked familiar...

Was sold by the Auto Collection a couple of years ago. Vin is on page

<http://autocollections.com/index.cfm?id=1502&action=details&tab=sold>

=====

Re:2+2 In China

Posted by OldInjun - 2010/11/25 12:55

You've got an excellent 2+2 memory. I'd seen it back then, also, but didn't remember until you made the connection.

I'd hate to pay shipping on that thing to Shanghai!

=====