

(2) 2+2's at Palm Beach Auction in March

Posted by BigBrother - 2011/01/19 21:50

Couldn't find any other 2+2s going thru the spring auctions but the Palm Beach Auction one has 2 nice ones for sale.

1965 2+2 Vert

<http://hollywoodcarauctions.com/OpenAuto2/listings.php?make=Pontiac&model=Catalina-2+2&id=512>

1966 2+2 (Wonder if this is still going thru auction as dealer told me he had it sold a few weeks ago???)

<http://hollywoodcarauctions.com/OpenAuto2/listings.php?make=Pontiac&model=Catalina-2+2&id=530>

=====

Re:(2) 2+2's at Palm Beach Auction in March

Posted by OldInjun - 2011/01/20 17:29

The convertible is gorgeous. My personal preference in a '65 is a coupe, but this one could make me change my mind. I think I would change the top to white - the blue is an off-shade next to the body.

=====

Re:(2) 2+2's at Palm Beach Auction in March

Posted by BigBrother - 2011/01/20 21:17

That blue top is terrible...can't understand why they didn't go for white....also not to be picky but I dont like the white walls on this one.

...but good to get a gauge of the market for a top restored 2+2

=====

Re:(2) 2+2's at Palm Beach Auction in March

Posted by BigBrother - 2011/03/01 22:04

i just remembered that the blue vert was advertised about a year ago for 79,900

=====

Re:(2) 2+2's at Palm Beach Auction in March

Posted by OldInjun - 2011/03/30 18:03

'65 Convertible on Ebay

This car is really making the rounds, now on Ebay with a "buy-it-now" (or best offer) price of $105,000!

Personally, I hope he gets every penny of that price.

=====