

8-lugs

Posted by OldInjun - 2013/04/10 15:29

A friend of mine from North Jersey sent me the following:

"I have a very nice set of 65-68 front 8 lug drums and also a set of rear drums . They are very very nice . I had the rears media blasted and the linings cut . So these are ready for paint . One I actually repaired since the lining was light in one area, using JB weld. The fronts are really nice , restored in the past . The used linings have alot of life left . The center caps are super nice , almost show . I actually bought these thinking the fronts would work but they are too deep. I could obviously make some mods , but i choose not to. These cost $ 250 to reline and much more to repair the fins and media blast . These are in very nice condition .

please ask around or email me or call me 908-692-1850

thanksbob "

email = bobrmacomputer_1@hotmail.com

If you contact him, let him know you saw it on the 2+2 Registry.

=====