

1966 Rear Qtr "2+2" Emblems

Posted by rmander45 - 2010/07/12 18:01

Am trying to complete resto of my 1966, and have accumulated all the emblems except for the "2+2" ones that go on the rear qtrs. My parts catalog says they're # 7590369. Does anyone have any for sale, or know where I might find them? Thank you.

According to my downloaded catalog from Ames Performance you're looking for part number PJ106. It's showing $99.00 for the pair. You may also want to try Performance Years. Hope this helps. Dave

I suggest buying it from Ames. I had ordered a 2+2 trunk emblem form PY, and what I received was a hood emblem (even had the hood emblem part # cast on the back) with the fourth mounting stud ground off. Of course, the remaining studs did not line up with the trunk holes. When I returned it, they said no one else had ever reported the problem. My guess is that all previous buyers were adding the emblems to non-2+2's!

Ames' part was a correct reproduction.

Sorry, should have mentioned that Ames no longer carries PJ106. Have not checked Perf Years, but will do so. Thanks.

Try Babe Haehnle at 517 782-8706 (no email). I think I saw some NOS emblems on his table at the POCl swap meet this past week. Tell him Jack - the guy who bought the '46 hood ornament - sent you!

I have a set of original qtr panel emblems that are in good shape...but for a restoration would need to be rechromed...have sun fade and minor buff scratches, etc. I used the aftermarket on my car and they are very soft but look nice. My brother rechromed some of his emblems and they came out "rounded off" looking, but might be the only way. Another source you should try is frank's Pontiac Parts...has quite a few parts and he is very straightforward about the quality.

If you are interested in the rechromers, give me a call ...951-316-9927
